

Three Step Analysis

- Examine supply structure and identify members of collective dominant group
- Analyze whether structural characteristics of market make it prone to collective dominance
- Evaluate impact of merger on competitive relationships among members of collective dominant group to determine how merger will affect their incentives to compete